See the Change Landesa Cambodia

November 9-15, 2023

Sample Itinerary:

Day 1 (Thursday, Nov. 9): Spend a restful morning in Siem Reap, gateway to Angkor Wat. Refresh yourself for an exciting week of activities. In the afternoon, join members of Landesa's Board of Directors for a visit to a local civil society partner, where you will learn how Landesa is building capacity of and strengthening local organizations.

Day 2 (Friday, Nov 10th): Visit Angkor Wat, Cambodia's archaeological wonder, a UNESCO World Heritage site and former capital of the Khmer Empire, followed by a group dinner.

Day 3 (Saturday, Nov. 11): Depart Siem Reap for Ratanakiri, a 6-7 hour drive by car. Enjoy views of the Cambodian countryside.

Day 4 (Sunday, Nov. 12): Visit with two Indigenous Community Land Titling Sites supported by Landesa for over 2 years, including a meeting with Provincial Chief of the Land Ministry

Day 5 (Monday, Nov. 13): Depart Ratanakiri and stop at Kampong Thom, a classic land allocation site. Visually arresting, you will encounter windswept dry land and not a lot of lush agriculture; but you'll also meet women leaders speaking proudly of life now: no longer landless, today they feel empowered. Finish the day in Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital and a jewel of colonial-era architecture.

Day 6 (Tuesday, Nov. 14): Travel to Kampot. This coastal province in the south is home to several Community Fisheries in mangrove areas that Landesa is in pilot development. You will see the need and the way community fisheries work. Meet with a government official here from the Fisheries Administration.

Day 7 (Wednesday, Nov. 15): Return to Phnom Penh for departure. Or extend your visit, exploring Phnom Penh or other sites in Southeast Asia. For those interested, there is an optional 2-day trip to a mangroves area, 2 hours south of Phuket, Thailand.
